Used in research for decades, the Autism Diagnostic Interview - Revised (ADI-R) is a comprehensive interview that provides a thorough assessment of individuals suspected of having autism or other autism spectrum disorders (ASDs). The ADI-R has proven highly useful for formal diagnosis as well as treatment and educational planning.

Like its predecessor, the Autism Diagnostic Observation Schedule – Second Edition (ADOS-2) is a semistructured, standardized assessment of communication, social interaction, play, and restricted and repetitive behaviours. By observing and coding these behaviours, you can obtain information that informs diagnosis, intervention, treatment planning, and educational placement. The ADOS-2 is viewed as the “gold standard” for observational assessment of ASDs. It can be used to evaluate almost anyone suspected of having ASD—from 1-year-olds with no speech to adults who are verbally fluent. The Toddler Module is designed specifically for children between 12 and 30 months of age who do not consistently use phrase speech. The Toddler Module quantifies risk for ASD and provides guidance if continued monitoring is needed.

About the trainer

Dr. Jennifer Endre Olson holds a doctoral degree in clinical psychology with special emphasis in child and adolescent psychopathology.

Dr. Olson received intensive training in paediatric psychology, developmental psychopathology, and developmental disabilities. She completed her doctoral internship at LaRabida Children's Hospital and Research Center in Chicago, IL and then received post- doctoral training at the University of Chicago with Catherine Lord, Ph.D, widely recognised as the foremost authority in the early diagnosis of autism spectrum. Dr. Lord is also the principle developer of the Autism Diagnostic Observation Schedule (ADOS) and co-developer of the Autism Diagnostic Interview-Revised (ADI-R). It was at the University of Chicago with Dr. Lord that Dr. Olson became researcher reliable on these measures and certified by Dr. Lord as a UMACC independent trainer. Dr. Olson remains a UMACC certified independent trainer on both the ADI-R and the ADOS through her continued work with Dr. Catherine Lord at both the University of Michigan Autism and Communication Disorders Clinic and now at Weil Cornell Medical College. As an independent consultant she has been providing on-site trainings on the ADI-R and ADOS for both clinical purposes and their use in research for over 15 years and has conducted over 350 trainings across 5 continents in more than a dozen countries and in a number of languages.

Dr. Olson continues to pursue clinical research interests related to the use of these measures in diverse populations, particularly in developing countries such as India where as co-project lead of PICAN, the Provincial Autism Resource Center Indo-Canada Autism Network, she maintains a clinician/research Autism Training Institute. She remains active in ADI-R and ADOS data collection, training and reliability maintenance for longitudinal genetics studies including the CIHR Pathway's Project and Simons Simplex Study (SSC) & Simons Variation Individuals Projects (SVIP). She was recognized in B.C. Canada in 2006 with an Award for Service to the Autism Community and again in 2008 with an Education Award as part of the British Columbia Autism Assessment Network (BCAAN) for work done to set up a training-based province-wide network of diagnostic services and recurring refresher education programs. In establishing J.Olson Consulting, Dr. Olson has sought to provide training that is completely individualized, entirely suited to the needs of each site and with a depth and quality of detail that exceeds industry standards.
